

INDEX

TO

VOLUME LIV.

A] Liberal-Conservative Chinaman on Western Countries, 386 ; geography, 387 ; Great Britain, 389 ; Russia and China, 391 ; France, 393 ; religions of Europe, 395 ; notions of China, 397 ; Christianity, 399 ; Western science, 401 ; Roman Catholic teaching, 405 ; ancient Greeks, 405 ; steam and machinery, 407 ; intercourse with foreign nations, 409 ; opium, 411 ; the board of punishment, 413 ; foreign doctrine, 415 ; orthodoxy and heresy, 417 ; genuine results to be prized, 419 ; results of the Symposium, 421.

Ancient Classics for English Readers —Lucretus, 518.

'Annales Cambriæ,' 359.

'Annales de l'Observatoire de Paris,' 26.

'Anti-theistic Theories,' Flint's, 1.

Approaching Perihelia of the Larger Planets, 26 ; gloomy prognostications, 27 ; difference between civil and solar year, 29 ; changes in longitudes of perihelia, 31 ; the eccentricity of their orbits, 33 ; ultra-millenarianism and astrology, 35 ; the mass of the sun and planets, 37 ; magnetic influence of the moon, 39 ; sunspots and the earth's magnetism, 41 ; the cause of sunspots, 43 ; relative distances of the larger planets, 45 ; perihelia and pestilence, 47 ; perihelia during the Christian era, 49 ; the epidemics of the present century, 51 ; conclusion, 53.

Authorship of Nature, The, 1 ; Agnosticism, 3 ; the Theistic inference, 5 ; no certainty in Atheism, 7 ; Bruno and Spinoza, 9 ; causation, 11 ; defects of materialism, 13 ; the supernatural in nature, 15 ; final causes, 17 ; coincident cause, 19 ; organs and tissues, 21 ; the two methods, 23 ; results of the inquiry, 25.

'Basis of Faith, The,' Conder's, 1.

'Bible Record of Creation,' Grant's, 490.

Bishop Wilberforce, 331 ; his personal qualities, 333 ; his father's letters, 335 ; takes holy orders—the living at Brightstone, 337 ; parish troubles, 339 ; the Oxford movement, 341 ; the Hampden controversy, 343 ; his wife's death, 345 ; his opinion of the Oxford tracts, 347 ; his opposition to the theology of the tracts, 349 ; correspondence with Dr. Pusey, 351 ; his consecration as Bishop of Oxford, 353 ; descriptive letters, 355 ; the Bishop and Dr. Hampden, 357.

'Blue Books of the Cape Colony,' 74.

'Book of Revelation,' Gregory's, 222.

Chambers's 'Cyclopaedia,' 26.

'Chapters of Early English Church History,' Bright's, 359.

'Compendium of South African History and Geography,' Theal's, 74.

- 'Conflict of Christianity with Heathenism,' Uhlihorn's, 422.
 'Contemporary Portraits,' Pressense's, 214.
 'Conversations,' Senior's (1871, 1878, 1880), 265.
 'Critique of Practical Reason,' Kant's, 223.
 'Cyprus in 1879,' Baker's, 247.
 'Divine Footprints,' Griffiths's, 219.
 'Dr. Duff, Life of,' Smith's, 93.
 'Dr. Moulton on the Hebrews,' 446 ; characteristics of this commentary, 447 ; Dr. Moulton, 449 ; "Paul-like," 451 ; Apollos, 453 ; "the firstborn," 455 ; apart from sin, 457 ; the temptation, 459 ; Delitzsch, 461 ; the atonement, 463 ; the Eternal Spirit, 465 ; quickened in the spirit, 467 ; Mr. Mason on St. Peter, 469 ; the definition of faith, 471 ; suggestions, 473 ; conclusion, 475.
 Early Victory of Christianity, 422 ; state of the heathen world, 423 ; religion and the State, 425 ; life in ancient Rome, 427 ; extravagance and vice, 429 ; first stage of persecution, 431 ; second stage, 433 ; Aurelius a persecutor, 435 ; the lowest depths, 437 ; third stage, 439 ; last persecution, 441 ; final victory, 443 ; conclusion, 445.
Ecc Christianus, 212.
 'Economics of Industry,' Marshall's, 243.
Encyclopædia Britannica, 26.
 English Men of Letters : Southey, 235 ; ditto—Milton, 235 ; ditto—Cowper, 527.
 'Essays,' Hume's, 1.
 'Final Causes,' Janet's, 1.
 'Flowers and their Unbidden Guests,' Kerner's, 525.
 Foreign Classics for English Readers : Montaigne, 258 ; ditto—Calderon, 258 ; ditto—Goethe, 516 ; ditto—Petrarch, 516.
 'Fossil Men,' Dawson's, 471.
 'France under the First Empire,' Macdonnell's, 256.
 'Gerard's Monument,' &c., Pfeiffer's, 225.
 German Preachers and Preaching of the Present Century, 303 ; Schleiermacher, 305 ; ditto, 307 ; Claus Harms, 309 ; Hofacker, 311 ; ditto, 313 ; Nitzsch, 315 ; Tholuck, 317 ; Löhe and Beck, 319 ; Menken, 321 ; Ludwig Harms, 323 ; Brückner and Uhlihorn, 325 ; Koegel, 327 ; ditto, 329.
 'Gipsy Life,' Smith's, 505.
 'Handbook of Methodism,' Woolmer's, 222.
 'Historia Monasterii S. Augustini Cantuariensis, 359.'
 'Historical Essays,' Freeman's, 249.
 'Historical Memorials of Canterbury,' Stanley's, 359.
 'Homiletical and Pastoral Lectures,' Ellicott's, 483.
 'Homilies on Christian Work,' Stanford's, 216.
 'Imperial Blue-Books relating to South Africa,' 74.
 'Indian Finance,' Fawcett's, 264.
 'Introduction to Zoology,' Huxley's, 514.
 Is Life Worth Living ? 154 ; the grounds of pessimism, 155 ; superficial explanations of the problem, 157 ; the reality of evil, 159 ; the indictment of life, 161 ; science and despair, 163 ; the cruelty of nature, 165 ; the rejection of art, 167 ; morals the test of value, 169 ; the genesis of morality, 171 ; morality and the creeds, 173 ; interdependence of religion and morality, 175 ; the secret of life, 177 ; the dark past, 179 ; the uncertain future, 181 ; the rejection of immortality, 183 ; the issue of pessimism, 185.
 'John Milton, Life of,' Vol. VI., Masson's, 508.
 'Journals kept in Ireland, 1846-7,' Senior's, 265.
 Kafirland : the Native Policy of the Cape Colony, 74 ; John Dunn, 75 ; the future, 77 ; over-population, 79 ; colonial government, 81 ; Sir Bartle Frere's memorandum, 83 ; the Basutoes, 85 ; Griqualand East, 87 ; industrial schools, 89 ; white and black races, 91.
 'La Bible au Seizième Siècle,' Berger's, 186.

- 'Letters of C. Kingsley,' Kingsley's, 262.
 'Lives of the Archbishops of Canterbury,' Hook's, 359.
- 'M. Berger on the Bible in the Sixteenth Century,' 186; the Bible in the middle ages, 187; early helps, 189; Erasmus, 191; the judgments of Erasmus, 193; Ximenes and Erasmus, 195; the Complutensian Polyglot, 197; principles, 199; Scripture the touchstone, 201; Carlstadt and Luther, 203; Luther and St. James, 205; Calvin, 207; the Holy Spirit, 209; conclusion, 211.
- 'Manliness of Christianity,' Hughes's, 220.
- 'Metaphysics of the School,' Harper's, 487.
- 'Method, The, &c., of Descartes,' 223.
- 'Migration from China,' Palmer's, 260.
- Mind and Brain, 124; cells and fibres, 125; their mysterious connection, 127; psychology precedes physiology, 129; Dr. Ferrier's experiments, 131; sensory centres, 133; possibility of localising a centre for self-consciousness, 135; sensitiveness of the grey matter, 137; significance of cortical insensibility to pain, 139; cortical centres employed in language, 141; aphasia of Lordat, 143; retentive capacity of the brain, 145; voluntary inhibition, 147; mental action of physical fatigue, 149; dreaming, 151; a field for future discoveries, 153.
- 'Modern Atheism,' Jenkins's, 1.
- 'National Cyclopaedia, The,' 26.
- 'Necessary Existence of God,' Gillespie's, 1.
- 'New Poems,' Gosse's, 511.
- 'New Testament Commentary,' Elliott's, 446.
- 'Nile Gleanings,' Stuart's, 498.
- 'Old Testament a Living Book,' Phelps's, 480.
- 'Other Worlds than Ours,' Proctor's, 26.
- 'Our Future Highway,' Cameron's, 231.
- 'Our Rest,' 26.
- 'Oxford,' Lang's, 494.
- 'Pall Mall Gazette,' 26.
- 'Path and Goal,' Kalisch's, 489.
- 'Pauline Theory of Inspiration,' Atwell's, 485.
- 'Poems, selected from P. B. Shelley,' Garnett's, 229.
- 'Poems of Wordsworth,' Arnold's, 229.
- 'Poetical Works of Robert Burns,' Smith's, 229.
- 'Reasons of Unbelief,' Drew's, 221.
- 'Relations of Mind and Brain, 124.
- 'Religions of China,' Legge's, 476.
- Religious Liberty in Europe, 54; ancient English spirit of liberty, 55; Holland, Belgium, and France, 57; Italy, 59; Spain and Portugal, 61; Germany and Austria, 63; religious liberty in Austria, 65; action of the Evangelical Alliance, 67; Bavaria in contrast with Baden and Würtemberg, 69; stages of progress, 71; State and Church in Germany, 73.
- Senior's Conversations, 265; Thiers' character, 267; Thiers on the glories of France, 269; Guizot, 271; a Frenchman on England's mission, 273; the power of the "Garde," 275; the Emperor a coward, 277; Madame Cornu's anecdotes, 279; the Emperor's hatred of business, 281; Prince Napoleon's views, 283; Montalembert on Lacordaire, 285; Poland, 287; Federals and Southerners, 289; The Mexican War, 291; French servants and children, 293; the Campana case, 295; Renan on "The Song," 297; journals in Ireland, 299; Relief works, 301.
- 'Six days of Creation,' Lewis's, 217.
- 'Songs and Sonnets of Shakespeare,' Palgrave's, 229.
- St. Augustine of Canterbury, 359; preparation for Christianity, 361; Queen Bertha, 363; the landing place, 365; interview at Ebbe's Fleet, 367; Baptism of Ethelbert, 369; Gregory the Great, 371; Gregory's letters, 373; scheme of Church organisation, 375; treatment of heathen customs, 377; Austcliffe, 379; British ritual and use, 381; the second interview, 383; results of the mission, 385.
- 'Strange Tales from a Chinese Studio,' Giles's, 501

- 'Theism,' Flint's, 1.
'Trues of God,' &c., Stevens's, 224.
'Twenty Years in the Wild West,'
Honstoun's, 240.
Two Indian Missionaries, 93 ; early life, 95 ; Interview with Carey, 97 ;
English education in India, 99 ;
conversions, 101 ; Dr. Duff in Scotland, 103 ; close of Indian career,
105 ; Christian officials in India,
107 ; Dr. Wilson, 109 ; public discussions, 111 ; Zoroastrians, 113 ;
discussions in court, 115 ; evangelistic tour, 117 ; ditto, 119 ; Somanath gates, 121 ; close of life, 123.
'Voice and Public Speaking,' Sandlands's, 254.
Water Supply, Browne's, 523.
'Wilberforce, Samuel, Life of,' Ash-well's, 331.
'Wilson, John, Life of,' Smith's, 23.
Woman's Work and Worth, 252.
'Ying Hai Lun ; or, Echoes from the Far Seas,' 386.
'Zur Geschichte der Predigt,' Nebe's, 303.

